PRINCIPAL

PROFILE

Scott Andreasen is the owner of Andreasen Design and a co-owner of Lagoon Funatics. He established Andreasen Design in 2023, aiming to provide exceptional landscape architecture and land planning services to developers. Scott's mission is to drive the success of every developer, revolutionizing project development through his innovative "Big Picture" process.

In 2018, Scott and his partners founded Lagoon Funatics, a turnkey management company specializing in facility management, food & beverage services, event management, and guest experiences. Lagoon Funatics is the most experienced management company as it relates to Lagoons. They have managed 2 lagoons and revolutionized the management of these large bodies of water. They were the first to introduce weddings and year-round events. This exciting venture allows Scott to not only design, but also live with his creations. With this insight from day-to-day operations, Scott has gained invaluable knowledge as a designer, resulting in more revenue for the developer, a better running facility and the ultimate guest experience.

Scott fundamentally believes that proportions are crucial in designing the perfect solutions for clients. Over the past 20 years, he has documented proportions from around the world using a tape measure and camera. These measurements and photos are transformed into detailed and curated catalogs, serving as valuable resources for Andreasen Design.

With an impressive background spanning over 28 years, Scott's expertise extends to landscape architecture, amenities, land planning, theming, place marking, event planning, and community programming throughout the United States.

Scott Andreasen possesses a wealth of experience and a passion for innovative design to every project, ensuring engaging and exceptional solutions for developers and clients alike.
